THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE. Fellow-Citizens of the Senate And House of Representatives

Since your last annual assembling, another year of health and bountiful harvests has passed; and while it has not pleased the Almighty to bless us with a return of peace, we can but press on, guided by the best light He gives us, trusting that in His own good time and wise way, all will be well.

The correspondence touching foreign affairs, which has taken place during the last year, is herewith submitted, in virtual compliance with a request to that effect, made by the House of Representatives. House of Representatives, near the close of the last session of Congress. If the condition of our relations with other nations is less grati-fying than it has usually been at former perination so unhappily distressed as we are might reasonably have apprehended. In the month of June last, there were some grounds to ex-pect that the maritime Powers, which, at the beginning of our domestic difficulties, so unanimously and unnecessarily, as we think, recognized the insurgents as a belligerent, would soon recede from that position, which has proved only less injurious to themselves than to our own country; but the temporary reverses which afterward befell the national arms, and which were exaggerated by our own dis-loyal children abroad, have hitherto delayed

The civil war, which has so radically changed for the moment the occupations and habits of the American people, has necessarily disturbed the social conditions and affected very deeply the prosperity of the nations with which we the prosperity of the hattons with which we have carried on a commerce that has been steadily increasing throughout a period of half a century. It has at the same time excited political ambitions and apprehensions, which have produced a profound agitation throughout the civilized world. In this unusual agitation, we have forborne from taking part in any controversy between for-eign States and between parties or factions in such States. We have attempted no propa-gandism and acknowledged no revolution. But we have left to every nation the exclusive out we have left to every nation the exclusive conduct and management of its own affairs. Our struggle has been, of course, contemplated by foreign nations with reference less to its own merits than to its supposed and often exaggerated effects, and the consequences resulting to those nations themselves. Nevertheless complaint on the part of this Govern-

It is an occasion of special pleasure to ackowledge that the execution of it on the part of her Majesty's Government has been marked by a jealous respect for the authority of the United States and the rights of their moral and loyal citizens.

A civil war occurring in a country where foreigners reside and carry on trade, under treaty stipulations, is necessarily fruitful of complaints of the violation of neutral rights. in preserving peace and friendship. In clear cases of these kinds, I have, so far as possible, heard and redressed complaints which have been presented by friendly powers. There is, however, a large and any actions however, a large and augmenting number of doubtful cases, upon which the government is unable to agree with governments whose pro-tection is demanded by the claimants. This proposition has been made especially to Great Britain, to France, to Spain, and to Prussia. In each case, it has been kindly received, but has not yet been formally adopted. I deem it my duty to recommend an appropriation in behalf of the owners of the Norwegian bark Admiral P. Fordens Riola, which vessel was, in May, 1861, prevented by the commander of the blockading force of Charleston from leaving that port with cargo, notwithstanding a the case to be communicated to the proper

Other parties, at home and abroad, some from interested motives, others upon patriotic considerations, and still others influenced by philanthropic sentiments, have suggested similar measures; while, on the other hand, several of the Spanish American Republics have protested against sending of such colonies to their respective territories. Under these circumstances, I have declined to move any such colony to any State without first obtaining the consent of its Government, with an agreement on its part to receive and protect such emigrants in all their rights of freemen, and I have at the same time offered to the several States situated in the tropics, or having colonies there, to negotiate with them, subject to the advice and consent of the Senate, to favor the voluntary emigration of persons of that class to their respective territoting colonization do not seem so willing to emigrate to those countries as to some others, nor so willing, as I think their interests demands. I propose having prepared and laid before you at an early day, some interesting and valuable statistical information upon this subject. The military and commercial importance of enmilitary and commercial importance of enlarging the Illinois and Michigan Canal, and improving the Illinois river, is presented in the report of Col. To carry out the provisions of the act of Congress of the 15th of May last, I have caused the Department of Agriculture of the United States to be organized. The Commissioner informs me that within the period of a few months this Department has established ar extensive system of correspondence and ex change, both at home and aboad, which promin due time be furnished, embracing some valuable tests in chemical science now in progress in the laboratory. I ask the attention of Congress to the suggestions of the Postmaster-General in his report respecting the further legislation required, in his opinion, for the benefit of the postal service.

The Secretary of the Interior reports as follows in regard to the public lands: "The Public Lands have ceased to be a source of revenue. From the 1st of July. 1861, to the 30th the Republic. The other parts are but the rado, has about ten millions of people, and will have fifty millions within fifty years, if not prevented by any political folly or mistake. The other parts are but The Secretary of the Interior reports as follows in regard to the public lands: "The Public Lands have ceased to be a source of revenue. From the 1st of July, 1861, to the 30th September, 1862, the entire cash receipts from the sale of lands were $137,476 26, a sum much less than the expense of our land system during the same period. man of this great interior region is thereby cut off from some one or more of these outlets, not, perhaps, by a physical barrier, but by embarrassing and onerous trade regulations. And this is true wherever the dividing or boundary line may be fixed. Place it between the now free and slave country, or place it south of Kentücky, or north of Ohio, and still the truth remains that none south of it can trade to any place porth of it and none it can trade to any place north of it, and none north of it can trade to any port or place south of it, except upon terms dictated by a govern-ment foreign to them. These outlets, east, ment foreign to them. These outlets, east, west, and south, are indispensable to the well-being of the people inhabitting and to inhabit this vast interior region. Which of the three may be the best, is no proper question. All are better than either, and all of right belong to that people and to their successors forever. True to themselves, they will not ask where a line of separation shall be, but will vow rather that there shall be no such line. Nor are the that there shall be no such line. Nor are the marginal regions less interested in these ommunications to and through them to the reat outside world. They, too, and each of hem, must have access to this Egypt of the West, without paying toll at the crossing any national boundary. Our national stri springs not from our permanent part, not from the land we inhabit, not from our national homestead. There is no possible severing this, but would multiply, and not mitigate evils among us. In all its adaptations am aptitudes, it demands union, and abhors sepa

Among the friends of the Union there is great diversity of sentiment and of denly, and without compensation; some would abolish it gradually, and with compensation some would remove the freed people from us of these diversities, we waste much strength in struggles among ourselves; by mutual con-cession, we should harmonize and act togeth-er. This would be a compromise among the friends and not with theenemies of the Union. friends and not with the enemies of the Union.

These articles are intended to embody a plan of such mutual concessions. If the plan shall be adopted, it is assumed that emancipation would not reduce them. Thus the customary amount of labor would still have to be per will follow at least in several of the States. be adopted, it is assumed that emancipation will follow, at least in several of the States. As to the first article, the main points are:

The liberation of the slaves is the destruc-tion of property; property acquired by de-scent or by purchase, the same as any other property.

It is no less true for having been often said that the people of the South are no more responsible for the original introduction of this property than are the people of the North; and when it is remembered how unhesitatingsum than it is to pay a larger one, and it is easier to pay any sum, when we are able, that it is to pay it before we are able. The war re taken. It is seen that the ratio of increase at The fiery trial through which we pass wi o one of these seven periods is either two per ent below or two per cent above the average, aus showing how inflexible, and consequently tain, 217,186,000; and we will reach this, too, if we do not ourselves relinquish the chances by the folly and evils of disunion, or by long and exhausting war, springing from the only great element of national discord among us. While it cannot be foreseen exactly how much one huge example of secession breeding lesser ones indefinitely would retard the population, civilization, and prosperity, no one can doubt that the extent of it would be very great and injurious

The proposed emancipation would shorten The proposed emancipation would shorten the war, perpetuate peace, insure this increase of the population and proportionately of the wealth of the country. With this we should pay all the emancipation would cost, together with our other debts, easier than we should pay our other debts without it. If we had allowed our old national debt to run at 6 percent per annum simple interest, from the end ent per annum, simple interest, from the en of our revolutionary struggle till to-day with-out paying anything on either principle or in-terest, each man of us would owe less upon that debt now than each man owed upon it then, and this because our increase of men through the whole period has been greater than 6 per cent, and has run faster than the interest upon the debt. Thus time alone re-lieves a debtor nation so long as its population increases faster than unpaid interest accumu-lates on its debt. This fact would be no excuse for delaying the payment of what is just deponlates on its debt. This fact would be no excuse for delaying the payment of what is justly due, but it shows the great importance of time in this connection, the great advantage of a policy by which we shall not have to pay until we number a hundred millions, what by a different policy we should have to pay now, when the number is but 31,000,000. In a word, it shows that a dollar will be much harder to pay for the war than will be a dollar for ay for the war than will be a dollar for mancipation on the proposed plan—and then he latter will cost no blood, no precious life.

t will be a saving of both.

As to the second article, I think it would be impracticable to return to bondage the class of persons therein contemplated. Some of them oubtless, in the property sense, belong to his article for compensating such.

The third article relates to the future of the reed people. It does not oblige, but merely uthorizes, Congress to aid in colonizing such s may consent. This ought not to be regarded as the strained in the such as may consent. ther, insomuch as it comes to nothing unlessy the mutual consent of the people to be de men should utter nothing for which they would not willingly be responsible through time and eternity. some would remove the freed people from us, and some would retain them with us; and there are yet other minor diversities. Because of these diversities, we waste much strength in struggles among ourselves; by mutual concession, we should harmonize and act together. This would be a compromise among the more nor less of it. Emancipation, even without deposition, would probably enhance. Is it true, then, that colored people can dis formed. The freed people would surely not do more than their old proportion of it, and very probably for a time would do less, leav-1. The emancipation.

But it is dreaded that the freed people will swarm forth and cover the whole land. Are they not already in the land? Will liberation make them any more

But why should Emancipation South send the freed people North? People of any color seldom run unless there be something to run from. Heretofore, colored people to some ex-

Their old masters will give them was neir labor for the wages till new homes can e found for them in congenial climes and

It is most likely—very likely—that it would cost no blood at all. The plan is proposed as permanent constitutional law. It cannot become such without the concurrence of, first, two thirds of Congress, and afterward three fourths of the States. The requisite three fourths of the States will necessarily include seven of the slave States. Their concurrence, if obtained, will give assurance of their severally adopting emancipation at no distant day

JAMES C. GILL,

Coroner, J. C. THE Sources OF PLANT FOOD .- There are vo great sources whence plants derive their purishment: the atmosphere and the earth.

The leaves and the roots are the two means the main ingredient in vegetables.

Experiments have shown that about two-thirds of the carbon of plants is derived from the atmosphere; in some cases double or triple that amount.

Plaster has an effect to increase this amount. have charcoal and other agents. Charcoal is a powerful absorbent, and thus nse it becomes a manure. When thorough-charged, it is probably one of the best fer-

The attractive power of plants to obtain their food must be very great. It takes the ammonia from the soil, when no other agent except chemistry and mechanical force can extract it. So the charcoal is not strong ough—it must yield to the plant.
This gathering food from the atmosphere for ae plant is an interesting thing, and should e made more available. Particularly should be profitable, as it thus draws its strength—the very essence of it—from a free source, where it need not be bought or carted. In this sense the atmosphere is every cuitivator's lung-yard.

It is the grand fountain, the great source of plant-food, presented to you everywhere—at your very door, and at all times. It is not only the source of vitality to animal but vege-table life. Each wind that blows adds invigorating health to vegetation. The leaves of rees and of grain, and the blades of grass, ake in the food; so that every wind is a godbend to the former.

This is done by displacing the air in immediate contact with the plant, air deprived of ts carbon by absorbtion, with new air charged with new food for the plant; as wind cools the

GEO. D. PRENTICE, Editors. OLIVER LUCAS, Local Editor & Reporter. FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1862.

The condition of affairs in that portion of Southern Kentucky lying between the Cumberland and Tradewater rivers continues most deplorable. The district embraces Crittenden, Caldwell, Lyon, and Trigg counties and the guerillas and robbers have still undisputed sway. Col. Foster has pretty well driven them out of Henderson, Union, Webster, and Hopkins, but their scattered remnants have taken refuge in the section indicated, and are co-operating with other rebel squads who were there before. We learn that, on the 24th ultimo, some two hundred guerillas were within two or three miles of Princeton Caldwell county, where Judge Peters had gone to hold court. This was to overawe the authorities, and to manifest a determination that if the courts are not conducted to suit robbers and cut-throats they are to be broken up by them. While the country is being stripped by these infamous scoundrels numbers of Union citizens are driven from their homes; indeed, some of them have no seen home since last summer, and whenever they are expected to visit their families their houses are watched by armed assassins who hover around to dispose of them on their arrival. All laws are set at defiance, the might of these robber gangs constitutes the only right, and such iniquities are done as "smell to heaven" and demand speedy punishment, for it has already been too long and most culpably In the midst of these outrages and atroci ties, neither the Federal nor State Government is doing any practical good for the relief of our friends, who on the contrary have been actually deprived of the means of self protection. Upon the call of our worthy Governor quite a number of patriotic young men immediately volunteered. Some went to Austria, or for Rome as against the Pope Henderson, and, although a few were received | Had England been true to her openly and long into the 8th Kentucky cavalry, many were unable to get into service, and being unable to support themselves for an indefinite period returned home. WHAT THE EDUCATED CLASSES IN ENGLAND THINK OF THIS WAR .- A distinguished English clergyman, under date of Nov. 3d, writes thus to a friend in this city:

In your previous letter, you speak of the conduct of England as being "cruel" to the United States. I cannot think so. On both sides violent things have been said and written by individuals, but the conduct of England and the United States, as represented in Parliament and Congress, has been friendly and pacific. To this hour, our rulers have succeeded in maintaining a strict neutrality, not-withstanding the remonstrances of the cotton withstanding the remonstrances of the cotton neterest on the one hand and France on the ther. I know that many in America regard even our neutrality as a kind of enmity, and onsider England bound to take the same view Southern insurrection as is taken in the th. But this is expecting too much from orth. But this is expecting too much from s. The present separation is no sudden outurst. It has been predicted twenty or thirty ears, and (as De Toqueville and others showed any since) is the result of those political and omestic institutions in America, which grew p from the events of the early history of the suntry. North and South are almost equally country. North and South are almost equally connected with England by the ties of blood and common origin, and in these respects have an equal claim on the sympathy of the mether country.

other country. But while England maintains her neutralbut while England maintains her neutrality, it is nevertheless true that the educated classes here have of late shown a great increase of sympathy with the South. This does not arise in any appreciable degree from commercial considerations as to the supply of cottou. The educated classes generally, and the slergy especially, are little influenced by such considerations. But, in the first place, they adversely the supply of nire the pluck and perseverance shown by he weaker party. Next, they see in the Southern "rebellion" what they consider an effect of the same principles which produced the "rebellion" of North and South against Eugland in 1776. "Division was their sin," they say, and now "division is their punish-ment." And third, so much has been said y rabid politicians and various newspapers, specting the harm which the United States in do, and will do to England at some future eriod, that many begin to think that the se-urity of this and other countries requires e clipping of the wings of the American I need not remind you that our educated classes generally consider that the Democra which forms the basis of the U.S. Constit ion is wrong and dangerous in principle, and hat, although it may have led to great ma-erial results, it is unfavorable to the best and terial results, it is unfavorable to the best and highest interests of man. Our clergy, especially, would approve of the sentiments of the Bishop of Michigan, as expressed in his sermon before the General Convention, respecting the fact that our Saviour, Christ, is not recognized by the U.S. Government. Many would regard the dissolution of the present state of things in your country as a blessing to the American people, and to the world at large, and would welcome the rise of world at large, and would welcome the rise of a grand American Emperor who would liberate his subjects from the tyranny and bac I do not mean to say that the above views are my own. I only give the substance of what I often hear in the course of conversa-

Fruit Culture-Colic in Horses---Miscellaneon Items, &c. We regret to learn that the Rev. J. J Talbott has severed his connection with Calvary Church of this city. The unfortunate divisions among the congregation have led us for some time to anticipate such a step, as no loyal or honorable gentleman, clerical or lay, could consent to occupy a position amid those who sympathize with rebellion and carry their political heresies to the very chancel o the church. We hope the reverend and eloquent gentleman will soon find an appropriate field of labor, where, while can preach "peace on earth," he may at the same time be permitted without hindrance to pray against "sedition, privy conspiracy, and rebellion." Mr. Talbott has won many friends among us, and his superbly glowing tributes to Gens. Nelson and Jackson Col. Jouett and Major Campbell, his devoted Christianity, and his impassioned patriotism. will endear the remembrance of his brief con power which has made it a country worthy of enthusiastic love. We have received a letter from Mr Isaac Morton, of Hartford, Ky., in reference to the death of his son William, on the 8th of December, 1861, who, it will be remembered, was killed by the late Colonel Gabriel Netter. We can see no good result from the publication of the letter; the facts of the case have often been the subject of newspaper comment and if Netter acted rashly, or under the influence of mistaken opinions as to the loyalty o young Morton, he is now beyond the bar of public opinion, and has been arraigned before the great Judge of all the universe. It is however, but just to the memory of William Morton to say that his father asserts that he had taken no part in the unhappy war, and that he was living quietly and attending t the paternal farm at the time of the encounter which resulted in his death.

CAMPBELL MINSTRELS-Benefit to the Sanitary Commission at Mozart Hall .- It will be seen by our advertising columns that this highly popular and talented troupe, thankful for the very liberal patronage bestowed upon them by our citizens, have, with commenda ble liberality, tendered a benefit to the Sanitary Commission for the relief of the sick and wounded soldiers for Tuesday evening next. Their performances, consisting of songs, dances, &c., are of the most chaste and refined of Ethiopian Minstrelsy, as is evidenced by the thousands who have witnessed them. We trust that our citizens will nobly second their efforts in this praiseworthy object, and fill Mozart Hall to its utmost capacity.

The eclipse of the moon, which will commence about midnight and continue through some four hours of to-morrow morn ing, will be total, though its disc will be faintly visible and of a dark copper color. This is the last time the earth's shadow will fall upon the moon, visibly in this hemisphere, for some years. If anybody desires to collect slips of yew, Sliver'd in the moon's eclipse, ARLINGTON & DONNIKER'S MINSTRELS .- This company, which has recently been performing in Cincinnati with great success, will appear in this city on Monday next. The Times, in a notice of the recent performances said: "We cannot let this opportunity pas without giving evidence that this is one of the best troupes that ever appeared in this city. They embrace a high order of musical talent, and their wit, humor, and eccentricity are truly freshing, and never fail to please."

The change it contemplates would come as quietly as the dews of Heaven, not rending ence from testifying the general appreciation of her modest merit and talent. The fine drama of the "Wept of the Wish-ton-wish," founded on Cooper's novel, and the protear play of Satan in Paris are selected for the programme, and these will show the versatility and elegance of the beneficiary.

HOMICIDE.—A man named Wm. Burns, sup posed to be a deserter from a Wisconsin reg ment, was shot and killed last evening, at the corner of Hancock and Market streets, by David Bergin, a member of Capt. Fagan's Provost Guard Company. An altercation had occurred between the parties about some trifling matter, which resulted in an affray. Burns was shot through and through, and survived his wound but a few minutes. Bergin it is so distinct as to catch the eye at once. On Monday as the freight train from Terre Haute, composed of twenty-three cars, was crossing the bridge over White Lick, north of Cartersburg, the bridge gave way, precipitating seventeen cars into the creek, the locomotive and one car passing over safely. Isaac Pratt, a brakesman, and Benjamin Jones, a soldier of the 69th Indiana, were killed. At Indianopolis, on Thursday evening, Henry Marsh and another man got aboard a hand car to proceed to the scene of the disaster, and when near the machine shops of the T. H. and R. R., the hand car was run into by the switching locomotive, throwing Marsh upon the tank, and his companion to one side. Marsh had his arm and some ribs broken, and received dangerous internal injuries, while his companion escaped with but a slight cut on the head. It is thought Mr. Marsh cannot recover from his wounds. He was an employee of the road, and had charge of the sectionwhere the accident first mentioned occurred, and was starting thither.

A NEW CONFIDENCE GAME.-Mr. S. M. Barventer, who resides about twenty miles south of Louisville, on the farm now occupied by the 91st Illinois regiment, Col. Day, as a camp, was smoothly and successfully swindled out of a watch worth about $25 on Friday night last. He was on the Illinois Great Western road near Springfield, when he was approached by an individual who professed to have just returned from Pike's Peak. He had in his possession a number of fine specimens of 'Rocky Mountain gold," which he was desirous to dispose of. These "specimens" had pins attached to them, and were represented as curious specimens of the yield of that auriferous region. After several persons had become the possessors of a "sample," Mr. Barventer tried his luck, giving in exchange for the gold the watch spoken of above. He found, on consulting a jeweler in Chicago, that his "chunk" was worth just one dime.

BRUTAL MURDER. -By a note from Colonel Green, Mail Agent on the Grey Eagle, the Evansville Journal learns that a foul murder was committed on Saturday last in Daviess aty Kentucky about five miles from Owensboro. Mr. Willis Fields, who has always been regarded as one of the most upright men in the county, was found dead two miles from his house with several stabs in his body, indicating that they had been inflicted with a large knife. Various suspicions have been aroused as to the perpetrator or perpetrators of this murder, but as yet nothing has occurred to satisfactorily fix their identity. Mr. Fields is said to have been a sterling Union man, respected and beloved by all his neighbors.

THE BAR-ROOM BRIGADE .- The Chicago Tribune leans from a gentleman who has just returned from Washington that the number of officers in that city lying around drunk, semidrunk, tipsy and a "little elevated," probably equals the rank and file of the army with which Gen. Taylor whipped twenty thousand men at Buena Vista. There seems to be nobody who has authority to remand them to their respective regiments, and they have so far lost the pride which should animate the soldier, as to be willing to shirk, upon one pretext or another, any one of the duties that they were selected to perform. This is a mournful statement; but we fear it is not ex-

A gentleman has arrived in Nashville who left Chattanooga on the 28th ult. He states that at that place flour was selling at $40 per barrel, corn at $1 per bushel, and bacon at 40 to 60 cents per pound. At Atlanta flour was selling at $44 to $50 per barrel, corn $2 per bushel, tea $12 per pound, and coffee $3 50. This gentleman reports that the south side of the Tennessee river bridge has been of Fruit Culture, from which we extract the completed, and that the north side will be following: completed in the course of thirty days.

A public meeting of the citizens of Lexington and Fayette county will be held in Lexington, on the 8th inst., for the purpose of instituting a patrol guard for each of the voting precincts of Fayette county. The Observer and Reporter says, that, in view of the insubordination and insolence of the slaves in our midst, this meeting is deemed imperative for the safety and security of our citizens.

SEIZURE OF COTTON .- The government officers seized at St. Louis, Tuesday, about 400 bales of cotton, which arrived from below by steamboat. It was consigned to private hands, but it is claimed to belong to the government, and will probably be so condemned and sold. The value of this cotton is not far from THEATRE. - Miss Maggie Mitchell's benefit will consist of the "Wept of the Wish-tonwish," and the protean arama of "Satan in Paris." A crowded house will certainly greet the fair and charming beneficiary.

WHAT WE MAY Do .- No human being can be isolated and self-sustained. The strongest and bravest and most hopeful have yet, ac-knowledged or unacknowledged to themselves, moments of hungry soul-yearnings for com-paniouship and sympathy. For the want of this, what wrecks of humanity lie strewn about us. Youth wasted for the mocking semblance of friendship. Adrift at the mercy of chance, of friendship. Adrift at the mercy of chance, for the grasp of a true firm hand, and a kindly loving heart, to counsel. It is affecting to see how strong is this yearning, so fatal to its possessor, if not guided rightly, such a life anchor if safely placed. "Friendless!" What a tragedry may be hidden in that one little word. None to labor for; none to weep or smile with; none to care whether we lose or win in life's struggle. A kind word or a smile, coming to such an one unexpectedly at some such crisis of life, how often has it been the plank to the drowning man, lacking which he must surely have perished. These, surely, we may bestow as we pass those less favored than ourselves, whose souls are waiting for our sympathetic recognition.

PROFITS OF FRUIT CULTURE.-W. D. Galla gher made a report to the Kentucky State Agricultural Society on the commercial value

Of course, the first question that most mer will ask, when solicited to embark in horticaltural pursuits, is this: Will they pay! Upon which we remark as follows: 1. Remuneration is relative. To be considered intelligently, it must be looked at with sonal supervision required. Horticultural p suits will not "pay" as a winning game cards pays. They will not pay as a success cards pays. They will not pay as a successful speculation in breadstuffs or provisions pays Nor will they pay as five per cent a month on money loaned pays. Nor yet as a New York hotel or a New England manufactory pays when those concerned in it are "satisfied." But that horticulture properly pursued-not ranch of agricultural labor-will pay there is not the smallest room for even the smallest doubt.

2. Examples of very great success in this business, in the United States, are by no means rare. Four or five years ago a peach orchardist in Ohio was offered $18,000 for the fruit or wenty acres of peach trees, while it was ve ipen. He declined the proposition, and r lized about $20,000 from the same fruit h gathering and selling it to consumers his self. This, however, was a most extraord in favorable seasons, produced nearly $1,00 per acre, but a much more common yield, or year with another, is about $250: about which good land in the Ohio Valle easily accessible to the best markets, may bought, trenched, planted (the price of slips included), staked (with oak), and cultivated to its fourth year. The fourth year brings crop—though not a full one. Let the avail of this go for interest and contingencies and the account will then stand thus will take place to-morrow evening. The bill of a bearing vineyard per acre, $250; value of a bearing vineyard per acre, $250, value of crop, fifth year, $250. Account balanced (capital, interest, and expenditures for labor being repaid), and closed. Within the succeeding five years, the equivalent of four crops may be counted upon. This is equal to $1,000, which, divided by five, gives are the product per acre. This equal to $1,000, which, divided by five, gives $200 per year as the product per acre. This looks a good deal better than growing twenty bushels of wheat to the acre, or ten barrels of corn. In Washington county, Ohio, snug little fortunes have been made in raising one single kind of apple (the small Romanite), and shipping it southwest for the supply of New Orleans. Strawberry growers near Philadelphia have often pocketed $500 to $800 per acre for that delicious fruit. And a plantation
